INVESTIGATIONS

INVESTIGATORS APPROACH

There's good reason why we provide legal costs for investigations of individuals.

Regulators can demand entry without warning...

COMPUTERS/
FILES

...they can take whatever information they like...

...and they can require any manager to explain any information they've seized in detail. Investigations and hearings can take years and can cost a lot of money.

PREPARING A PROFESSIONAL REPORT

But we don't just wait for clients to be investigated before we help. PrivateEdge also covers the insured persons' costs of preparing a professional report for a business to proactively approach a regulator or a trade organisation about a possible breach.

Sometimes the best defence is a good offence and it's at times like these that PrivateEdge policyholders may well appreciate our early expert support as well as the confidence that we'll be right there beside them throughout.
