OPTIONAL DUTY TO DEFEND

Some companies may want to manage their own defence to management liability claims, particularly large sensitive claims.

INSURER TAKES OVER THEIR DEFENCE

Other companies, especially those without legal resource or experience may prefer a "duty to defend" position where their insurer takes over their defence.

EXPERT REPRESENTATION AND DEFENCE STRATEGY

And by tendering the defence to us they have the peace of mind of knowing they're getting expert representation and defence strategy based on AIG's deep experience and know-how.

ADVANCE THE LEGAL COSTS

In either case, with PrivateEdge we'll advance the legal costs as they are incurred.

We're flexible, because we know that no two claims (and no two clients) are the same.
